Dedication

To be dedicated to one's work is in itself praiseworthy, but to be dedicated to helping students and colleagues have a higher and better understanding of education is an attribute that deserves special recognition.

Teaching is only a small part of his devotion to Middle Georgia College. He is mainly devoted to the individual student, whose love for him equals his dedication to his work. His concern is reflected in the fact that he has a large number of advisees, to whom he gives constant help. Numbers are only an outward symbol of the service he gives to this institution, for anyone who has come in contact with him has grown to love, admire, and respect him. For these qualities, we dedicate the 1970 Hilltopper to you, Mr. Beverly Daniel Evans.

The Joy of Fulfillment

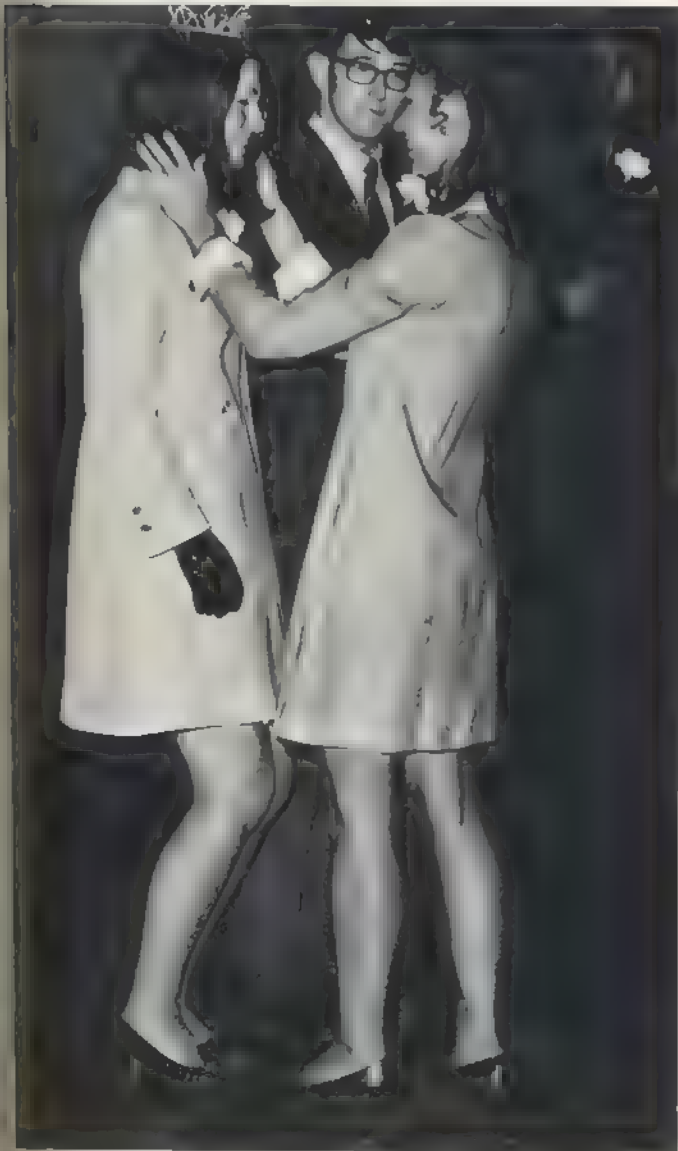

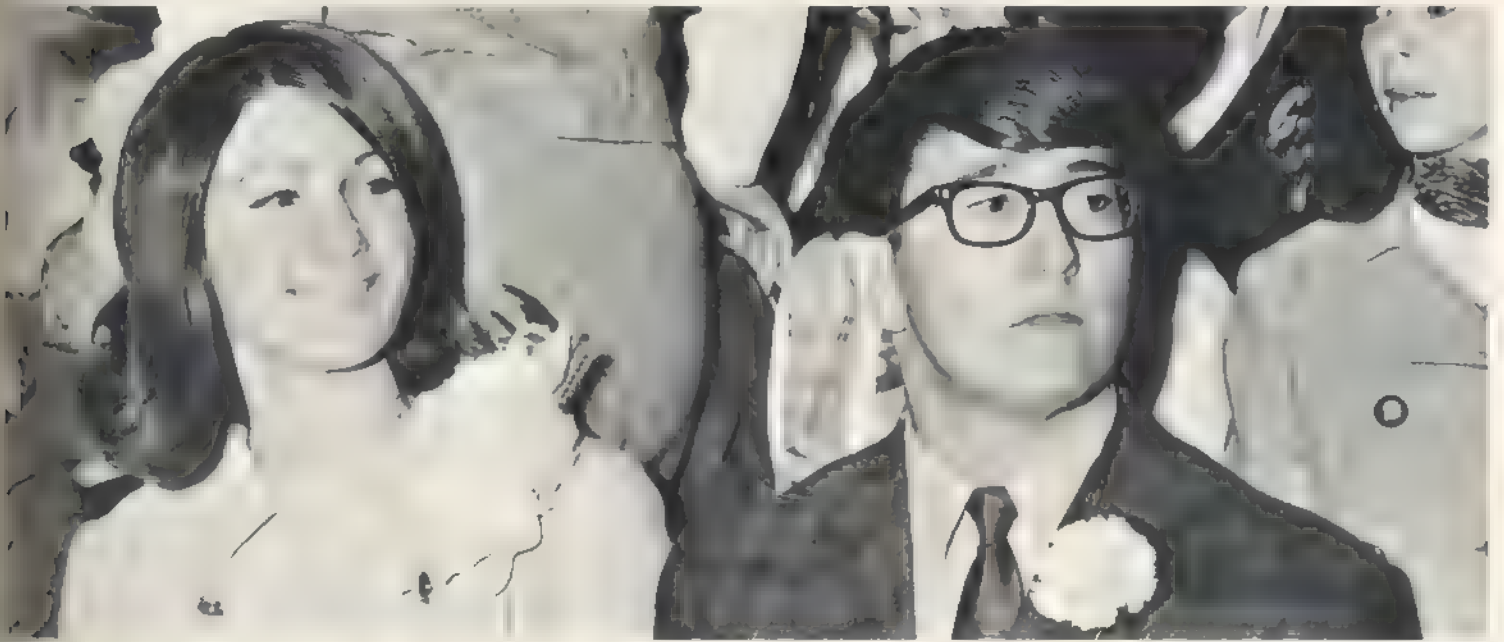

Homecoming 1969

Miss Iris Weeks, vivacious sophomore from Wadley, Ga., was crowned 1969

Miss Iris Weeks, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Weeks of Wadley, Georgia, reigned as 1969 Homecoming Queen. Chosen by the student body and crowned by the 1968 Queen, Mrs. Anne Eldridge Lloyd, Iris was escorted by Roy Williams. Iris has been active in student affairs. Homecoming

Homecoming 1969 was an event to be remembered.

Much work and preparation went into the decorations for Homecoming 1969. The afternoon events began with the traditional Homecoming parade through downtown Cochran. Each dorm was represented by a float. New Girls' Dorm decorated the winning float. Following the parade, the students, faculty, and visitors enjoyed a delicious barbecue supper on the grounds behind the cafeteria. Climaxing the day's events was the crowning of the 1969 Homecoming Queen, Miss Iris Weeks, and the presentation of trophies to New Girls' Dorm for the winning float and dorm decorations. Adding to the Homecoming highlights, the Middle Georgia Warriors defeated the Columbus Rebels. Ending the gala event was a dance with Percy Sledge and the Sledgehammers held in the Morris Memorial Gymnasium Saturday evening. Thus ended Homecoming 1969!

The Strength of Purpose

OF PURPOSE

Student Council

M. G. C. Student Body elected the largest Student Council ever.

Student Council was the most active organization on the M.G.C. campus. The Council was composed of 46 members who were elected in the fall of 1969. Although the group functioned as a whole, there were numerous committees. These committees worked to meet the needs of students. One of these committees was the Movie Committee, which brought to the campus movies for students' entertainment. Student-Teacher Evaluation Committee helped to evaluate teachers through the students. One of the busier committees was the Student Union Committee. This committee made sure there were records in the Co-op, decorated at Christmas, and helped to make a more enjoyable atmosphere.

Student Council

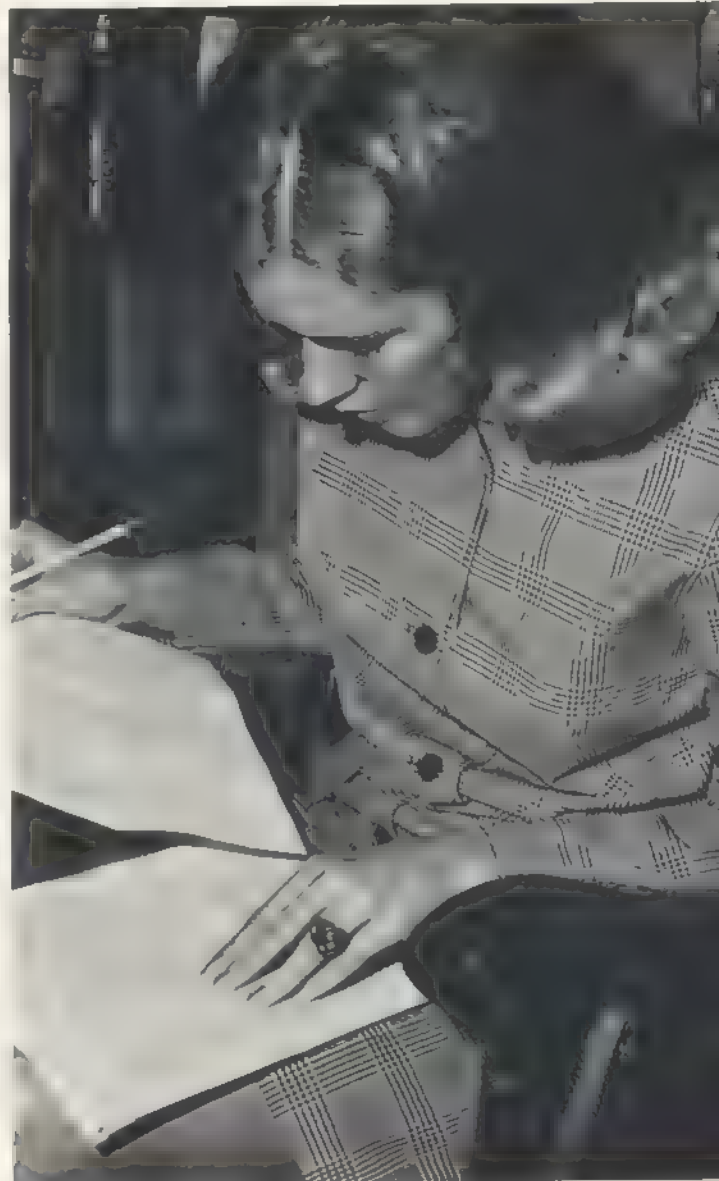

Student Council was the medium between students and the administration.

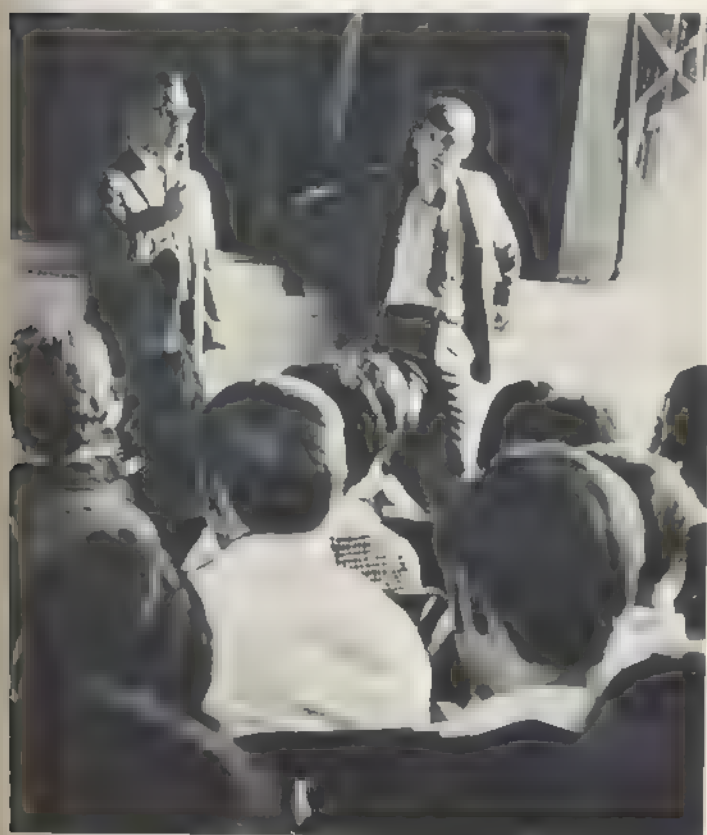

Various committees of the Student Council worked diligently to provide services for M.G.C. students this year. The Student Directory Committee compiled names and hometowns of all students into a booklet and distributed this booklet free. Another committee was responsible for welcoming all guests to the campus.

The most active committee of the Student Council was the Student Ticket Appeal Committee. This committee was composed of 6 members and one chairman. Listening to complaints of students, the committee decided on fines that would be paid by the traffic violators.

The Student Council began their year by helping with registration procedures. They also acted as guides to aid new students with registration. They also helped with Homecoming.

Off-campus activities were plentiful for Student Council officers. During October, Randy Fagler and Ed Redmond represented M.G.C. at the annual Governor's Conference in Savannah.

Student Social Activities Committee

The Committee planned numerous dances for students' enjoyment.

At the end of each year, students are appointed to serve on the Student Activities Committee for the following year. These students were chosen because of their interest and willingness to work with school entertainment. This committee selected the bands, dates, and decorations for each dance held at Middle Georgia College.

Some of the bands the committee engaged this year were The Swinging Medallions, Percy Sledge and the Sledgehammers for the Homecoming Dance, the Classics IV in concert, the U. S. Kids and others. Although most of the dances were informal, students enjoyed two formal occasions, including the graduation dance, which featured Dean Hudson's band.

The Middle Georgia Collegiate Civitan Club is a service organization whose purpose is to build citizenship and to promote service to the campus community.

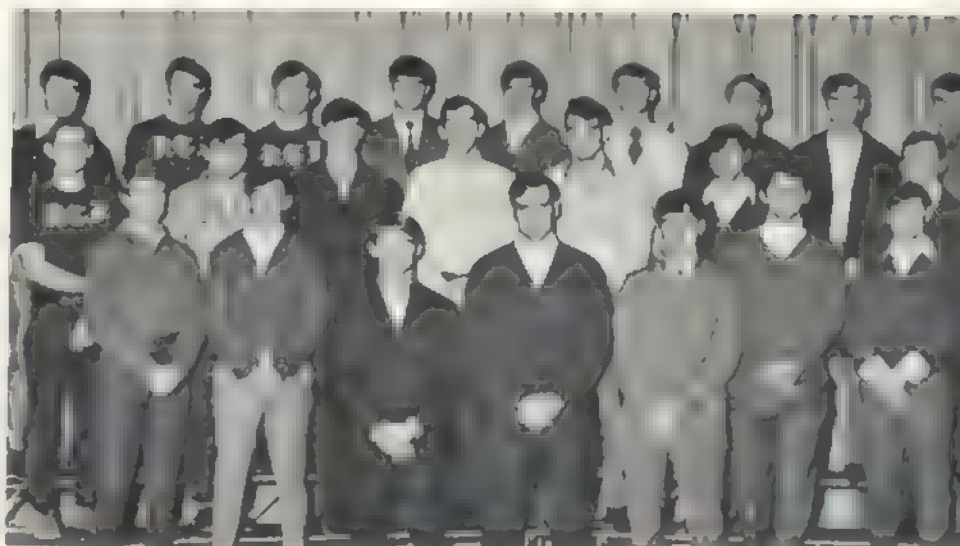

Selling candy through the Halloween season, sponsoring a car in the M.G.C. Homecoming parade and the Dublin Christmas parade, and selling hot dogs in the student center for charity were but a few of the club's worthwhile projects. The Civitan Club also participated in the restoration and opening of a coffee house in downtown Cochran, and during the Christmas season the club collected food, clothing, and toys for a needy family in the community.

Rotaract Club

The R. C. I. jerseys were seen frequently around campus.

The Rotaract Club is a Rotary Club-sponsored organization of young adults between the ages of 17 and 25 inclusive whose purpose is to stimulate acceptance of high ethical standards, to develop leadership and responsible citizenship through service to the community, and to promote international understanding and peace. The Rotaract Club of Middle Georgia College was the first to be formed in Georgia and seventeenth in the United States.

Rotaract was engaged in many activities this year. Jerseys were bought by each of the members and were seen frequently around campus. A float was entered in the Homecoming parade, a food drive was held for a needy family during the Thanksgiving holidays, the club worked with Cochran Rotary Club on an international project, and a talent show was sponsored by the club.

It was the job of the Warriors Club to raise school spirit. In doing so the club sponsored many activities with this spirit in mind. The Squaws and Warrior helped the cheerleaders raise spirit at basketball games. The pep club was also responsible for using spotlights to introduce players and the playing of the national anthem at home games. Another important activity of the Warriors Club was sock hops after home basketball games. During the Winter quarter the club selected a player of the week and also sponsored several motorcades to away games.

Students interested in play productions comprise the Midga Players, the college Dramatics club. The club produces several major plays each year. Introduced into the dramatics program this year were a number of experimental productions so that more students could have a chance to participate in drama.

The major productions this year included The Bad Seed by Maxwell Anderson, Everybody Loves Opal by John Patrick, and The Crucible by Arthur Miller. The experimental theatre included one-act plays and readers' theatre. It is hoped that future productions in readers' theatre will involve material written and directed by students.

Engineering students at M.G.C. found the Engineering Club a congenial group interested in relating the different segments of the engineering curriculum to the profession of engineering. All phases of engineering and related occupations were discussed and viewed in an effort to afford a complete understanding of engineering.

This club was organized under the direction of the Engineering Department during the fall quarter of this year. In spite of the short existence of this club, there was great interest shown in it, and the club plans to extend its activities in the future.

Forensic Society

Forensic Society debated the pros and cons of tax sharing this year.

Reestablished this year after a lapse of several years, the Forensic Society attracted students interested in public speaking. The group participated in debate and individual speaking events, such as oral interpretation, impromptu speaking, and extemporaneous speaking.

This year the club started participating in various tournaments in the South. Tournaments attended this year included those at Gulf Coast Junior College, West Georgia College, and Spring Hill College. At these tournaments the students met in competition against other leading colleges and universities. As the club grows, the number of tournaments will be extended.

Quintas Stellas is an organization not only for students taking courses in the Department of Home Economics, but also for anyone who wishes to join. The purpose of the organization is to help members to prepare for professional and home life and to encourage community leadership.

The activities of this year were attending the Fall, Winter, and Spring workshop, attending the State Convention in Atlanta, making a tour of homes, and making cookies as a money raising project.

The highlight of the year was the Christmas party given by the club in order to make a happier Christmas for two children. The members planned and made refreshments and decorations for the party.

Kappa Epsilon Sigma

Interest in mathematics and related fields was promoted by the Club.

The main objective of Kappa Epsilon Sigma is to promote special interest in mathematics or other related fields. Students may extend their horizons in mathematics by attending meetings, taking part in programs, or studying current developments in mathematics from magazines.

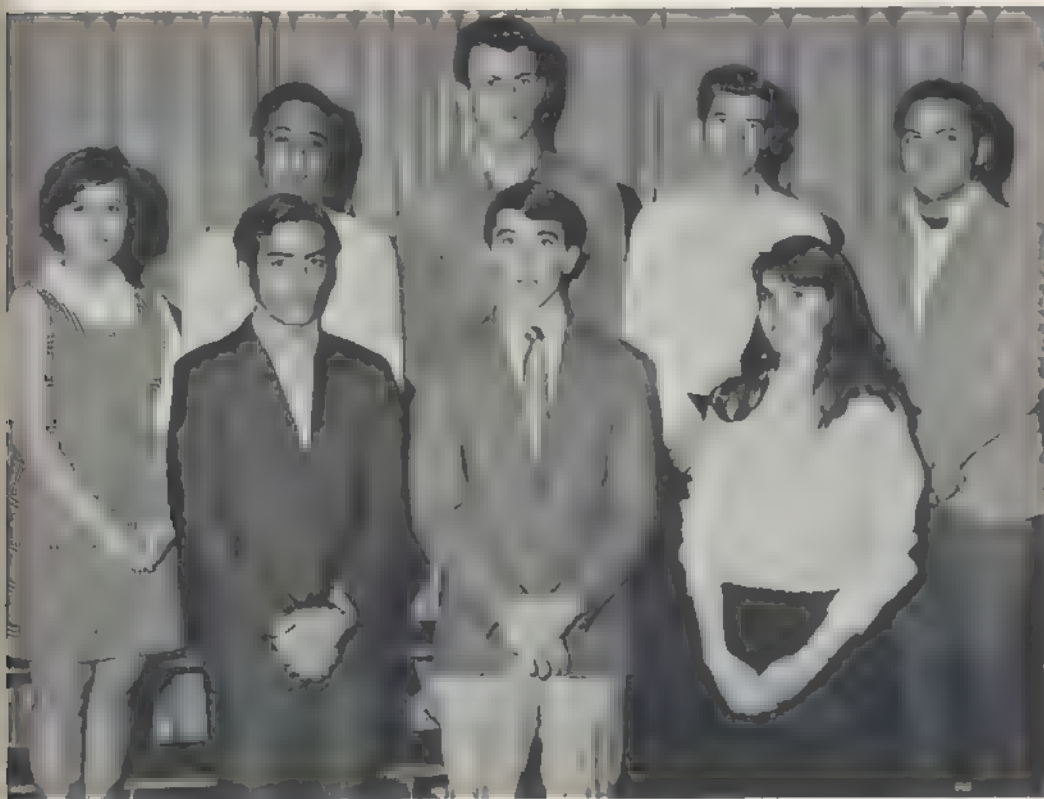

Programs this year included films, guest speakers, and problems presented by students. Some of the topics discussed were historical development of mathematics, statistics, freshman algebra and trigonometry, examples in analytic geometry of space, and the derivation of Newton's formula.

The John XXIII Chapter of Newman Student Federation is an organization of Catholic culture and fellowship which fosters the spiritual, intellectual and social interests of the Catholic students at Middle Georgia College.

The services for the Newman Federation were held bi-weekly by Father Ralph A. Frisch, S. T. of Dublin. Of his many discussions, "The Morality of War—Is There Such a Thing as a Just War?", was enjoyed most by the Federation. The Federation met every Wednesday to discuss plans for future development of this organization.

The advisers for Newman Student Federation were Dean Joseph P. Vidosic, Academic Dean of Middle Georgia College, and Dr. Armando Castellanos, Professor of Business Administration.

Wesley Foundation

Wesley Foundation sought to develop Christian fellowship for all students.

First Row: Patricia Sercher, Johnny Wilson, Pres ; Dale Roper, Rep ; Rosemary Mullis.

One of the newest organizations on the Middle Georgia College campus was the Wesley Foundation. It was organized at Middle Georgia in the fall of 1967.

The main purpose is to promote Christian fellowship and service in the college and in the surrounding community by the students of this organization. Students of all faiths were invited to join the Wesley Foundation. The foundation is supported by the Methodist Church.

Westminster Fellowship

Group discussions and charity projects kept Presbyterian students busy.

In the Fall quarter of 1968, the Westminster Fellowship was organized. Its purpose is to promote Christian fellowship and service in the college and in the surrounding community by students of all faiths. It is supported by the Presbyterian Church of Eastman. Advisers are Mr. William Preston and his wife.

This year the Fellowship discussed drinking, drug abuse, and the "generation gap." During the Winter quarter, it collected for the March of Dimes and visited the local nursing home.

Muses

Creativity in the Arts was expressed through the literary magazine.

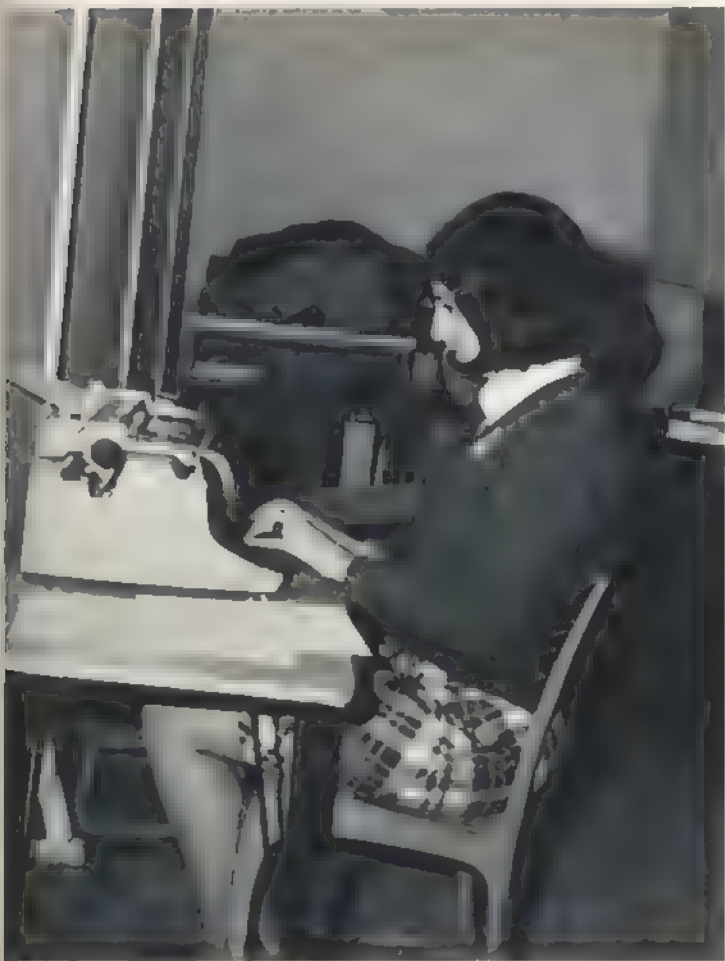

First Row Debbie Forehand, Ed ; Tommy Pilcher, Art Dir Second Row Carol Smith, Rosemary Mullis, Carl Bailey, Brad Holloway, Jerry Davis.

Introduced last year by Beta Phi Gamma journalism fraternity, Muses is Middle Georgia College's literary magazine. The magazine is composed entirely of student contributions in poetry, prose, and art. Mrs. Martin Bridges was adviser for this group.

Muses is an annual publication and the staff of the magazine began work early in September with preplanning. Students submitted material by the end of fall quarter. The categories were separated, and a panel of judges evaluated the work. The winner in each category was given recognition in the magazine. During winter quarter the material was typed and each page designed. Format and cover design were decisions made by the staff. With all parts completed, Muses was delivered in the spring.

Creative Writing Club

Seeking literary talent was the job of the Creative Writing Club.

Mr. Ralph Purser, Adviser

The Creative Writing Club was organized in order to encourage students with interest and ability in creative writing. The club elected no official officers, but preferred to work as a committee of the whole in producing and evaluating manuscripts submitted by fellow members or by other students. The club was instrumented in providing material for the Muses. Mr. Ralph H. Purser, Jr. coordinated the club's activities and worked closely with interested students. Mr. James Proctor assisted Mr. Purser in stimulating interest in the club.

Delta Psi Omega

Delta Psi Omega represented the best dramatic actors of the school.

Delta Psi Omega is the national honorary dramatics fraternity. The local chapter was reactivated this year after having been inactive for several years. Membership is open to those students whose work in theatre is exceptional and who can meet the entrance requirements.

The national organization of Delta Psi Omega was organized March 20, 1929, as an honorary dramatics fraternity for the purpose of providing an honor society for those doing a high standard of work in dramatics. The fraternity is not intended to take the place of the regular dramatics club, but as students qualify, they are rewarded by election to membership in this society.

Mr. Nelson Carpenter and Miss Pat Smith, advisers to this club, were instrumental in its reactivation on the Middle Georgia campus this year.

Tournament games were anxiously awaited by the golf team.

Under the leadership of Coach Stanley Aldridge, M.G.C.'s golf team made great progress during the year. The 1968-69 team had an 8-6 record, but the only returning letterman this year was Al Sutton, who placed fourth in the State in 1969. Several new players joined the team this year and added to its strength.

The team began practice in early March and practiced every afternoon the weather permitted. They worked diligently preparing for the State Tournament that was held in late April.

In order to get ready for the Tournament, the team competed with the teams of various other colleges during the season. There were fifteen such matches in all. This year's team was eager to match the 1968-69 team, which placed fourth in state competition.

Scott Wood, Dwight Duke, Coach Aldridge, Al Sutton, Tommy Bruner, Joe Warren

Tennis

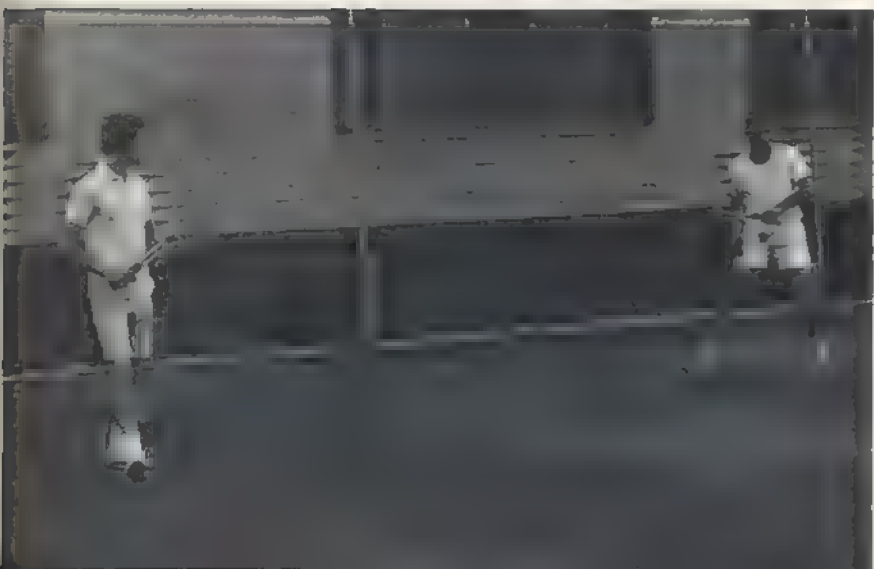

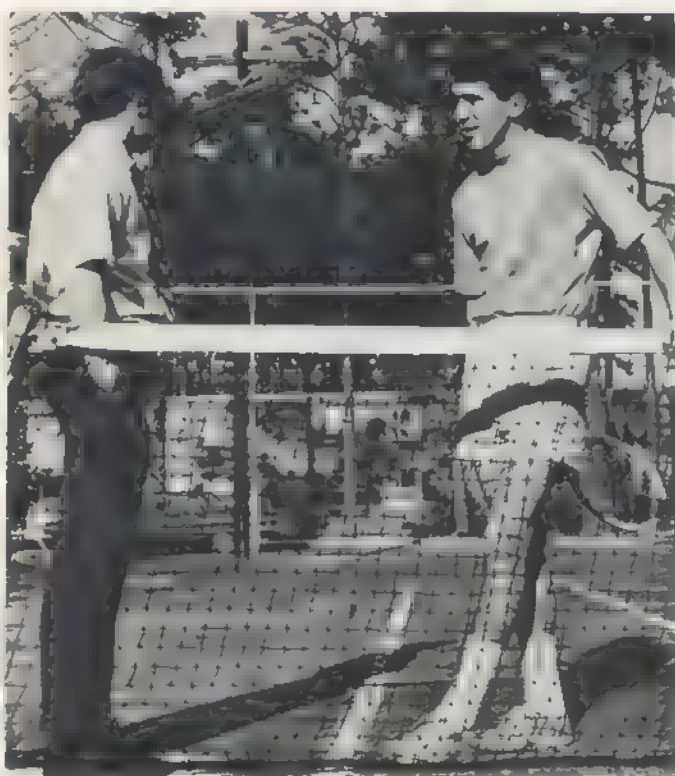

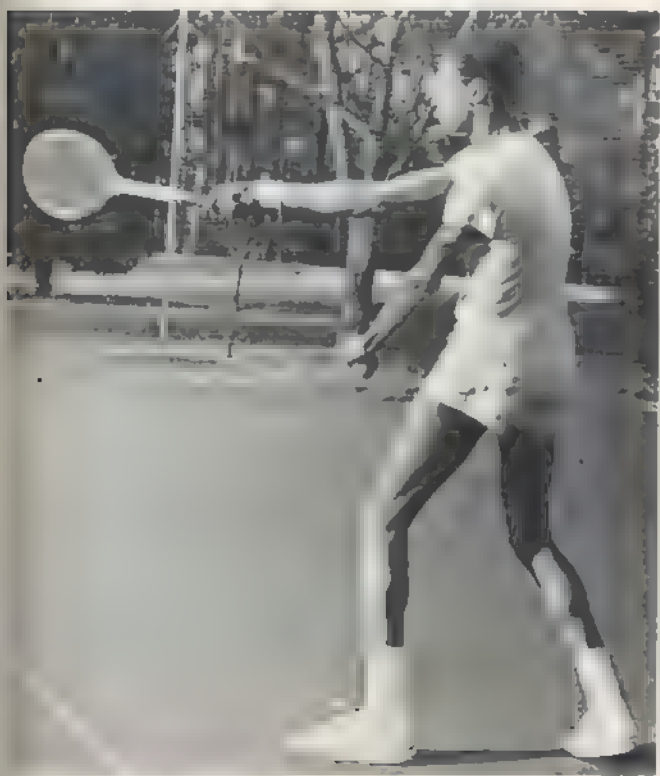

Tennis team attracted largest number of players ever.

Under the new leadership of Coach Don Lander, the 1970 Tennis Team hoped to gain the experience and agility they needed to compete for the State Tournaments. The Tennis Team was without any returning lettermen, but these players worked hard to gain the skill and technique that is required of a college team.

Cheerleaders

With overwhelming enthusiasm, the cheerleaders raised school spirit.

Middle Georgia College was well represented by these six outstanding young ladies at most of the out-of-town games, and they boosted spirit at all home games. They made colorful posters that lined the sides of the gym, and often wore their uniforms to classes to announce the home games. With the aid of Chief Bill Selph, and the squaws, the cheerleaders were capable of giving the Warriors the support and extra "GO Power" needed throughout the season. These cheerleaders were also typical of the good character of students on the college campus.

First Row: Cynthia Smith, Capt.; Sheila Bates, Deborah Sawyer, Debbie Friedrich, Amy English, Gail Mullis

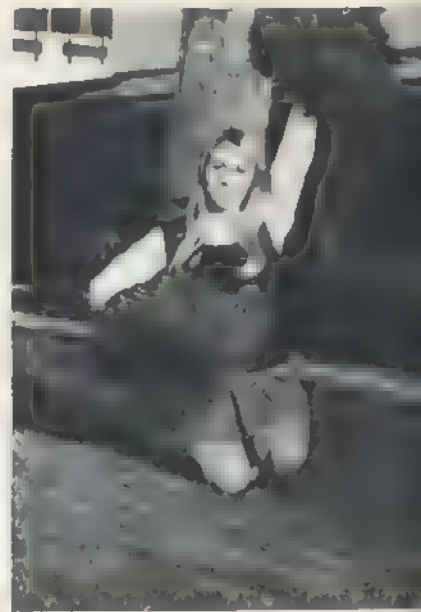

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders displayed vibrant spirit at the basketball games.

Squaws

Squaws gave entertaining performances at the home basketball games.

Every Warrior needed a squaw to promote spirit among the students, assist the cheerleaders in performing the cheers and to inform the students of all Warrior games. The squaws prepared dance routines for half-time entertainment and were active in all projects of the Warrior Club. Chief Bill Selph, who was chosen unanimously by the Warriors Club, led the squaws.

*First Row: Phyllis Daniels, Debbie Westmoreland, Joyce Ragan.
Second Row: Katye Veal, Pam Eckles, Sue Peacock*

Football Intramurals

True football spirit showed itself during the games this season.

Intramurals this year included football as one of its popular skilled sports. With the absence of a varsity football team, those who enjoy playing football had an opportunity to play if they joined the program. Keen competition developed between the teams of the different leagues as many teams proved their ability to win. The final playoff game was between the Apaches and the War Eagles with the War Eagles taking the title. The intramural program this year was under the leadership of Coach Jones.

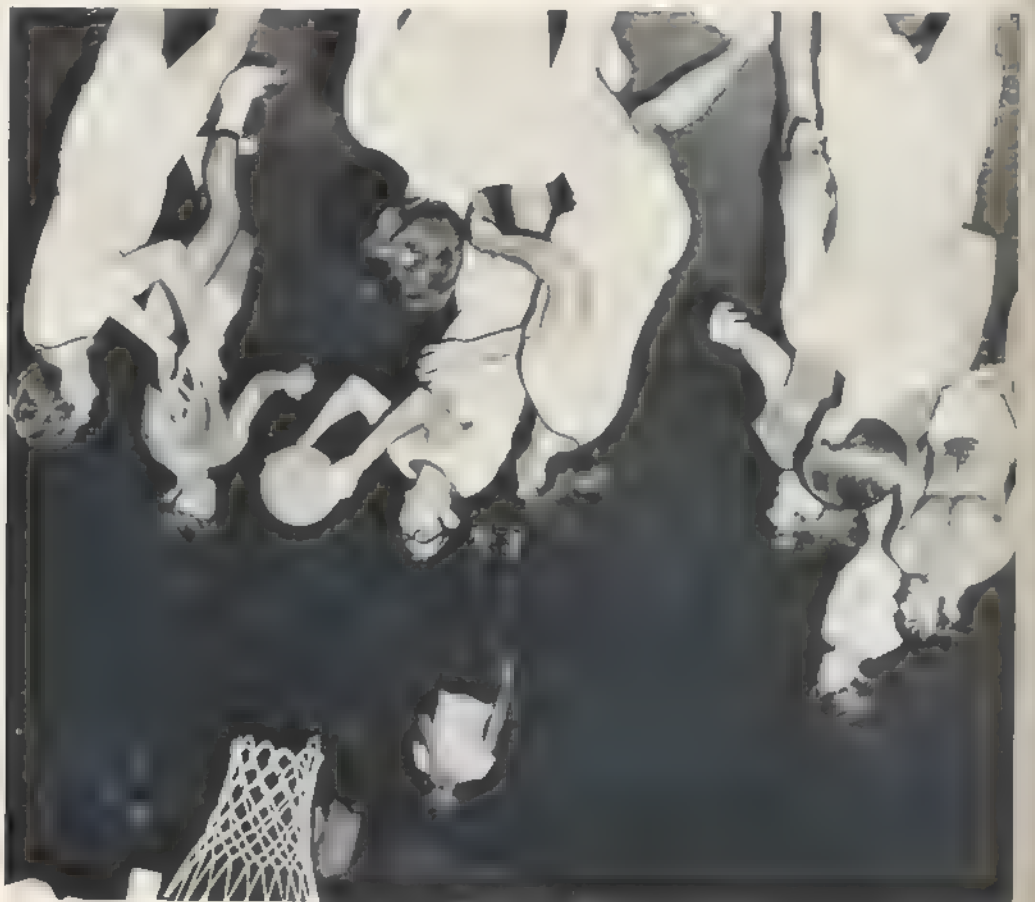

Basketball Intramurals

Stiff competition made Basketball Intramurals highly successful.

Basketball as an Intramural sport proved to be very satisfying for the spectators as well as the participating teams. With the end of the season coming up, there were several teams competing for top positions in the playoffs. This year's program lived up to its designated purpose by providing a chance to improve the skills of the participating students. The War Eagles, Wad Squad, and the Durence Boys gave outstanding performances during the games.

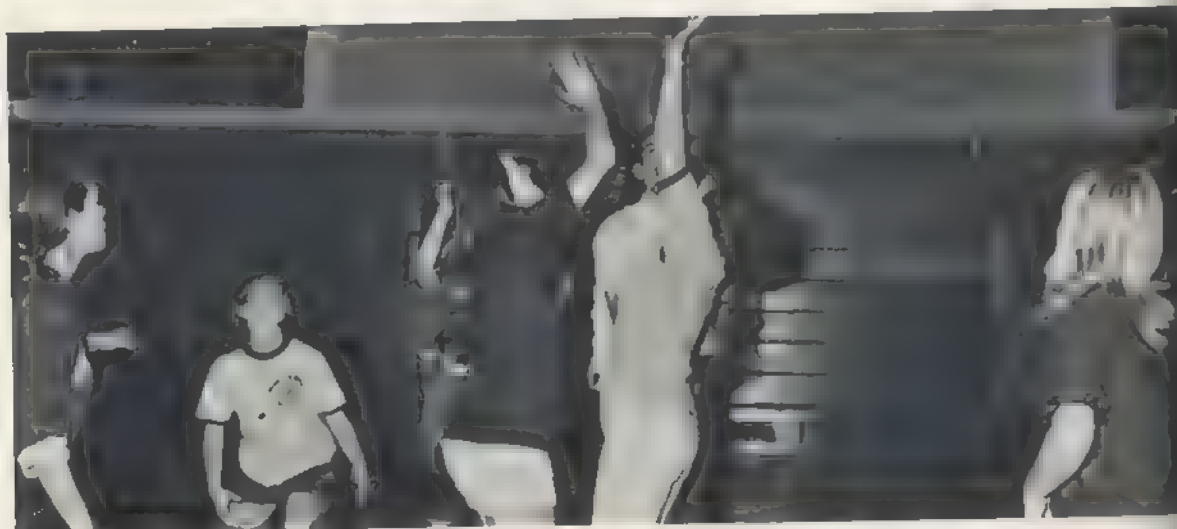

Girls' Intramurals

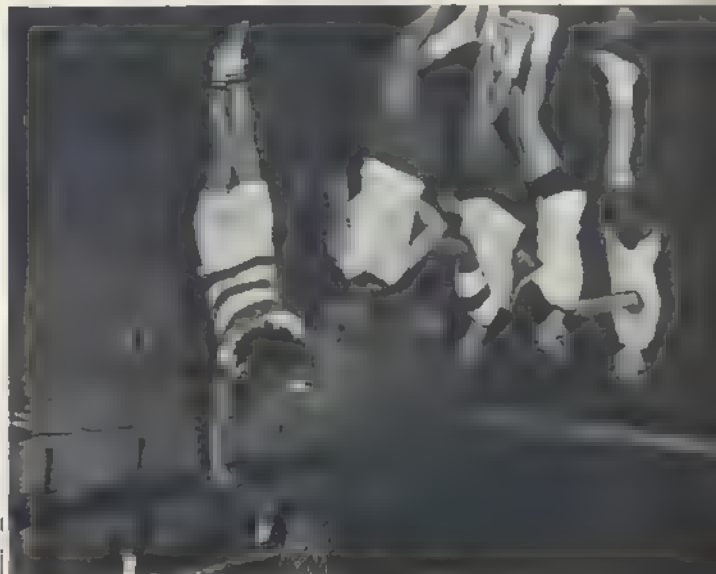

Girls displayed their skills in playing intramural basketball.

Girls' Intramurals were open to the female campus students. Girls participated in basketball, volleyball and softball. This program gave the girls an opportunity to perform and served as a healthy physical activity. The intramural program for the girls is expected to expand into the area of touch football.

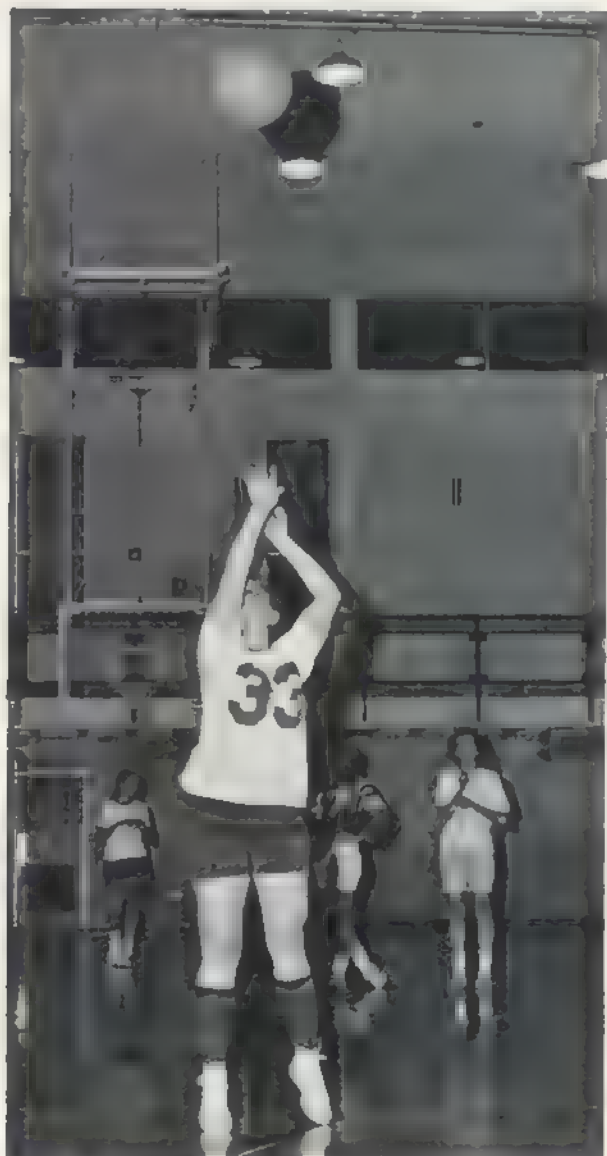

Girls' Intramurals

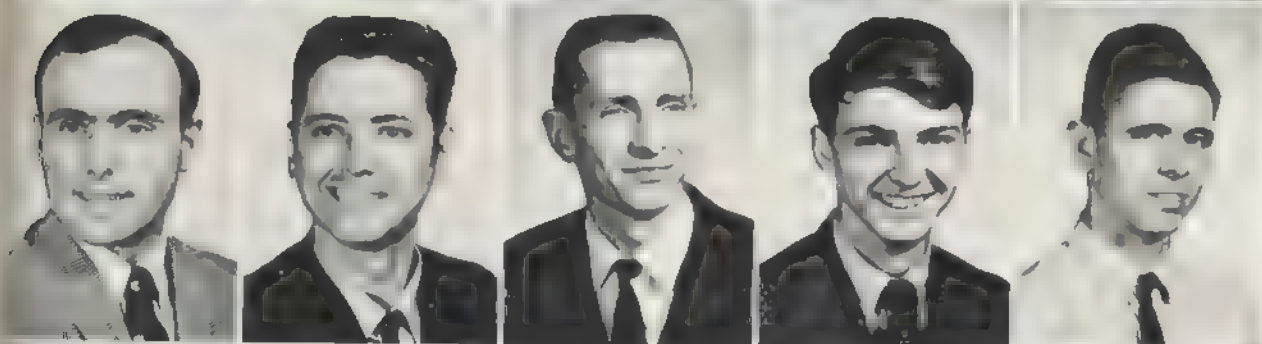

Girl's Intramurals began its third active year at M. G. C.

Hilltopper

The 1970 yearbook staff published the largest Hilltopper ever.

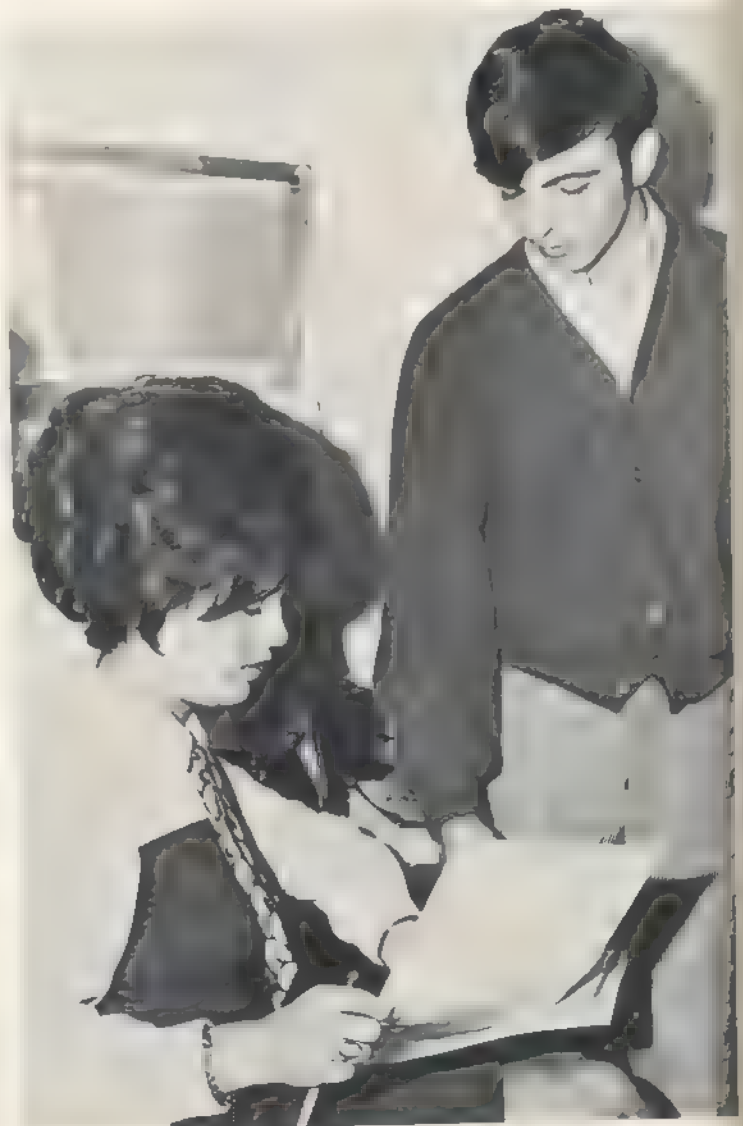

First Row Carl Bailey, Editor, Theresa Hendon, Associate Editor Second Row Becky Wells, Nancy Smith, Jeanie Cadle, Claudette Harrell, Amy English, Beverly Glover
Third Row Rachel Reed, Cissy Cannon, Carol Smith, Freiya Wester, Celeste Strickland, Carol Newman, Susie Ligon, Pat Jones Fourth Row John Brady, Robert Yeager
Terry Hurd, D. L. Holland, Dave Abercrombie.

Under the capable direction of Miss Patsy Harrell, new annual adviser, the Hilltopper staff expanded the annual; the 1970 Hilltopper is the largest yearbook ever to be published at Middle Georgia College.

This year's staff was very lucky to have many talented people to work on the Hilltopper, who are needed to make an annual a success. Ten sophomores and twelve freshmen composed the 1970 staff. The Hilltopper was glad to have interested freshmen to carry out the tradition of excellent work for the past twenty-two years.

Many hours were spent taking and cropping pictures, and drawing layouts. Each page required much work and upon completion was carefully checked by the editors.

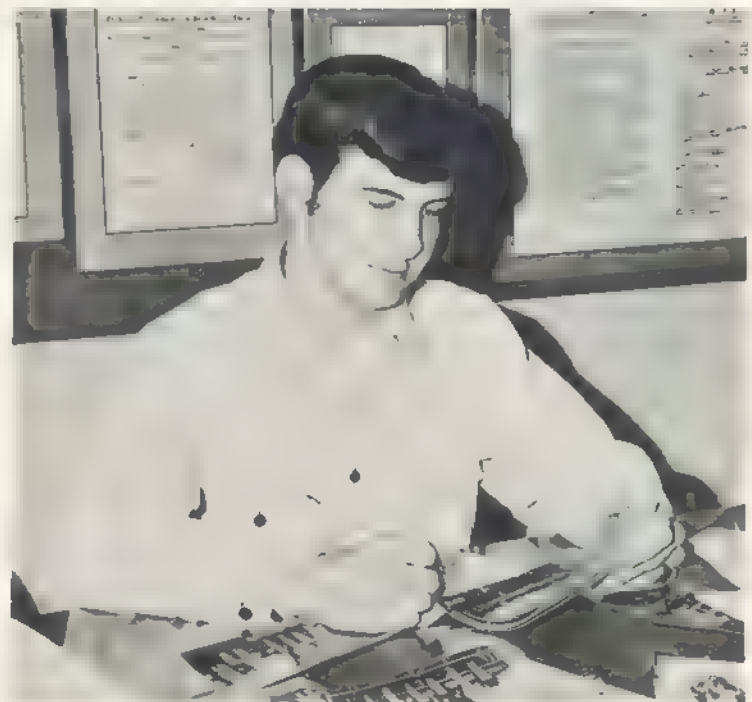

Choosing a theme that would fit the students of Middle Georgia College was not a very difficult task. When all things were taken into consideration, "Faces" was thought to reflect the mood, feeling, and emotions of MGC students.

Along with the rigorous task of publishing a book, the staff sponsored the Miss Hilltopper tea and contest. The purpose of the contest was to find the ideal and most well-rounded girl on the Middle Georgia College campus. The staff also took part in most of the activities on campus. This was done in order to get a well-rounded look at the students on campus.

As in the past the 1970 Hilltopper will continue the tradition of having the book judged by the National School Yearbook Association.

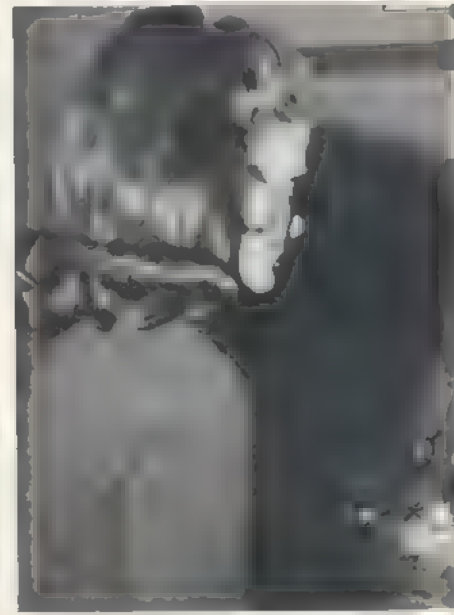

Hilltopper Staff

Staff's activities and duties ranged from sorting pictures and drawing layouts to sponsoring the Miss Hilltopper contest.

The face of M.G.C. changes...

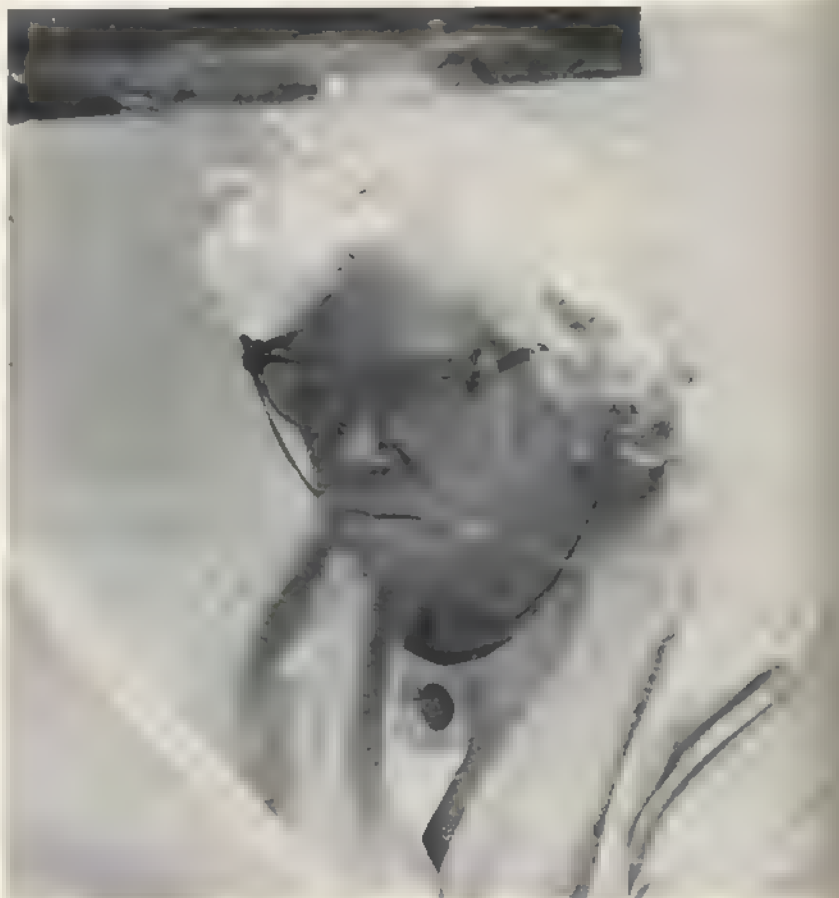

... from buildings with tall white columns ... into tinted glass and slanted roofs ... a face growing physically as well as intellectually Four new buildings—a girls' dormitory, a boys' dormitory, a student center, and a Fine Arts center—will soon be completed to help house M.G.C.'s increasing enrollment and to accommodate its expanding curriculum. Middle Georgia College ... constantly changing to meet the challenge of the decade of the '70's.

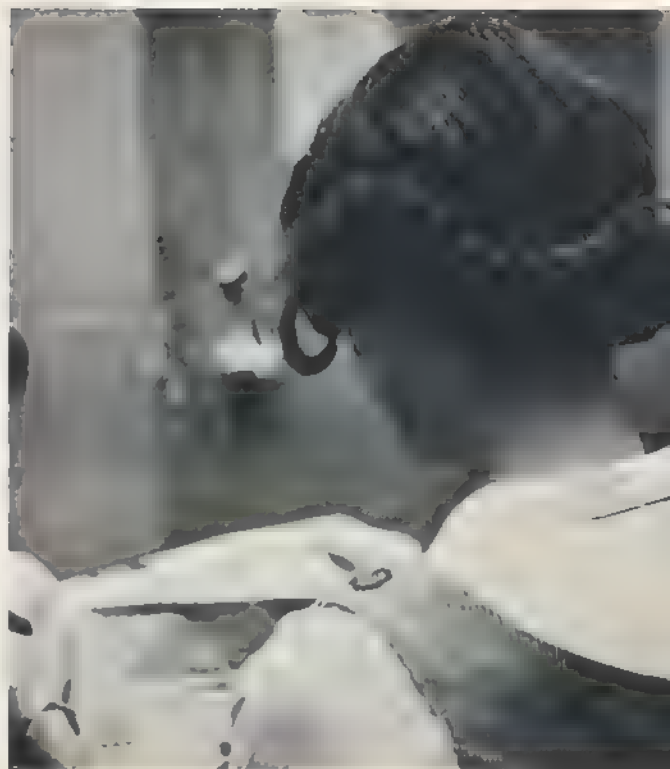

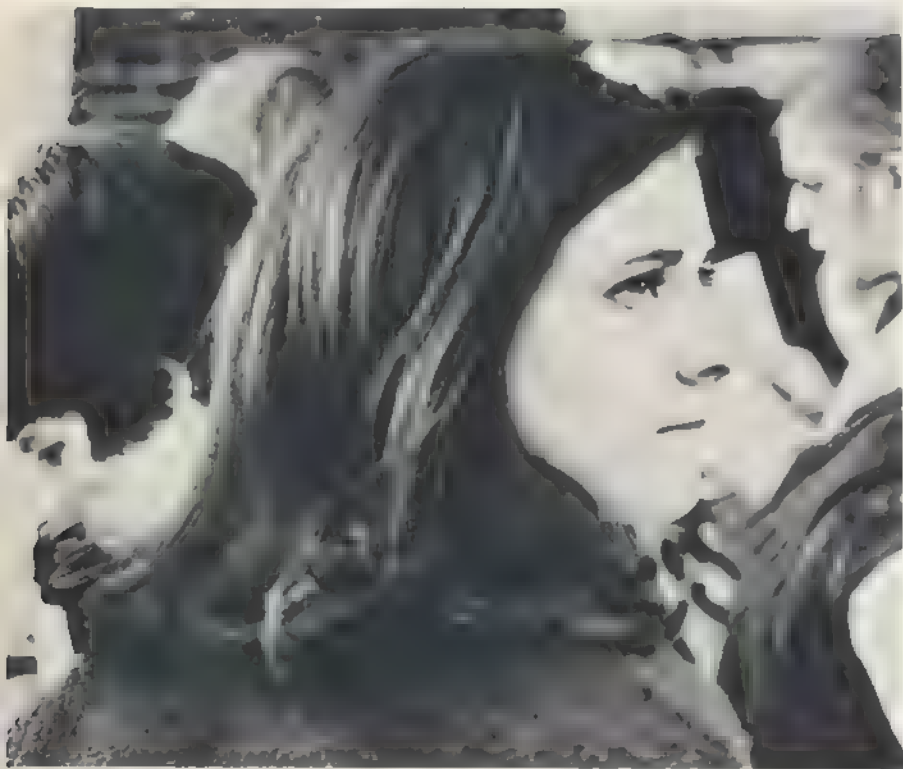

Miss Price Retires.

A familiar face will be absent from the M.G.C. campus

A native of Charlevoix, Michigan, Miss Dorothy Ina Price has been teaching at Middle Georgia College since 1956. An Associate Professor, Miss Price received her A.B. and M.A. degrees from Florida State University. While at M.G.C., Miss Price has served as adviser for Phi Theta Kappa. She has also been active in her local chapter of Eastern Star. For many years of outstanding and dedicated service to the college, we pay tribute to Miss Price upon her retirement.

Remember . . .

A kaleidoscope of 1970.

In Retrospect . . .

At last it is time to pause briefly and reflect. As the last few pages of copy are being readied to leave the campus, my thoughts are many and varied. It is over. The months of constant pressure are over. The staff is very tired . . . very happy . . . and very thankful. I hope the 1970 Hilltopper has captured a part of all the times . . . both good and bad . . . that have been this year. If, in turning these pages, you suddenly remember a moment of 1969-70 which was significant for you, then we will have succeeded. We have tried to tell a story, a Middle Georgia College story, something to spark a lost moment of reality, or to trigger an air of nostalgia. We will not know how well we have done our job, but we are glad that we have been given the opportunity to try.

A yearbook is the combined efforts of many people, and it would be difficult to name everyone individually, but I would like to thank each member of the staff who has given many hours of his time to help with the production of this book. I would like to extend a personal thank you to Miss Harrell for her never-ending help, advice and patience, and also to my associate editor, Theresa Hendon, for always seeing things my way. I would also like to thank Sarge for his help with the Miss Hilltopper Contest, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Dykes for the use of their home for Sophomore Superlative pictures, and Miss Windham for allowing us to use the Heritage Room of the library.

Middle Georgia has afforded each of us a time for learning . . . for being individuals. Each face is essential. Together all these faces make up the heart of a college . . . Middle Georgia College.

Carl Bailey
